FASTEST TRAIN ON PENNSYLVANIA IS ROBBED OF LARGE AMOUNTS OF MAIL

Masked Men Hold Up Seven Clerks at Work in the Mail Car
NONE OF PASSENGERS MOLESTED BY BANDITS
One Clerk Shot When He Argues With Members of Bandit Gang

(International News Service)
ALTOONA, PA., July 30.—The Manhattan Limited, fastest train on the Pennsylvania railroad between New York and Chicago, was held up and robbed by masked bandits early today at an isolated spot in the fastnesses of the Allegheny mountains, about 30 miles west of this city.

Letters containing unknown sums of money were stolen and A. J. Lantz, mail clerk, was shot during an argument with one of the robbers.

The robbers who had been riding the rods of the mail car emerged from their concealment after the train had got in motion again after it had cut off a helper engine at Gallitzin.

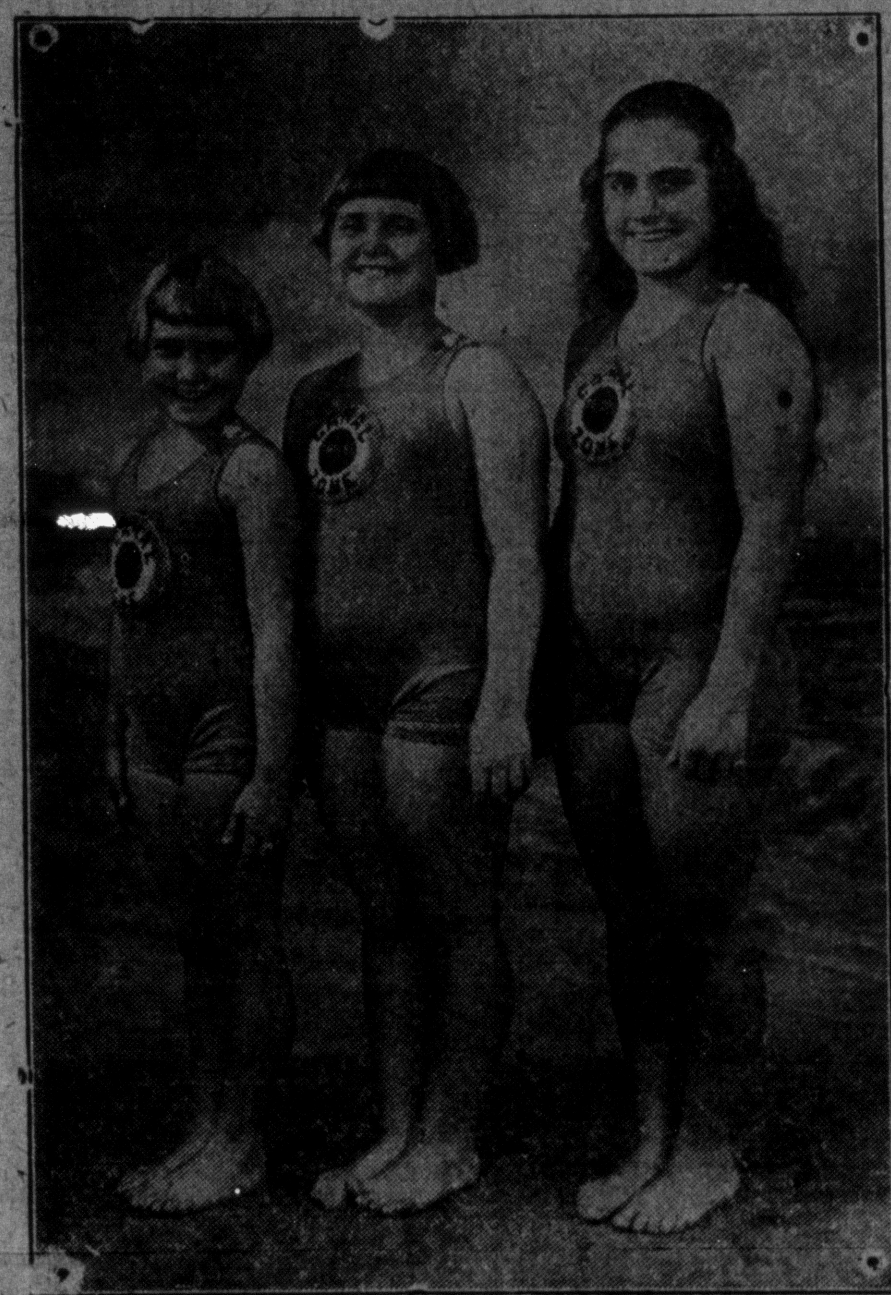

While passing through a long tunnel, the clerk in the mail car had left a door open and it had not been closed when the bandits swung aboard the platform and dropped into the mail car, covering the seven men who were sorting mail. Every robber carried a gun. Threats were made to kill all the clerks if they attempted any resistance.

While the seven men were backed up against the car wall with their hands above their heads, the robbers hastily went through all the mail that was suspected of containing anything of value. One sack of registered mail was thrown from the train and a confederate rifled it before state troopers and deputies found it.

There is reason to believe that the sum obtained was large as the train carries only high class mail, said to frequently contain bonds, cash and other securities, shipping by New York and eastern banks to Chicago and western clients.

After robbing the mail car, one of the bandits swept over the tender of the engine and forced the engineer to apply the emergency brakes. None of the passengers were molested and they did not know a hold-up had taken place until the engineer stopped the train.

TRIO OF CHAMP GIRL SWIMMERS ARE VISITING RELATIVES HERE

Helen, 8 Vivian, 11 Margaret, 13.

The Twin Cities today are entertaining a trio of champ girl swimmers in the persons of little Misses Margaret, Vivian and Helen Bernardi, of the Panama Canal Zone. They are here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bernardi, for a visit to Mrs. Florence Forbes and other relatives.

The trio are enroute home after having filled an engagement of two weeks in Madison Square garden as members of the Red, White and Blue troupe of aquatic performers from the Canal Zone. The New York meet, composed of a number of amateur swimmers, was promoted by Tex Rickard, a personal friend of Mr. Bernardi. The latter made the arrangements for the visit of the Panama delegation.

All of the children have made numbers of public appearances, but all are amateurs and the New York events had the sanction of the Amateur Union of America. The experiences of the children were many while in New York, but one was not entirely pleasant. The Children's Society attempted to stop the performances and had Mr. Rickard placed under arrest, but the judge dismissed the case declaring any child had a right to go in swimming with the consent of the parents, "particularly in this hot weather."

Helen, the youngest of the trio, dives 70 feet and her act created a sensation in Gotham. Vivian was the winner of the Pershing cup in the events staged in the canal, while she also is declared to be the best developed child in the Panama Canal Zone.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernardi and their talented children will leave Sunday for Kentucky, resuming their long trip overland to Seattle Washington.

BENEFIT GAME FOR INJURED TWINS TO BE PLAYED MONDAY AGAINST TRIPLETS

Spitznagle and Craddock Will Get Purse From Local Fan Flock

COLUMBIA WINNERS IN FRIDAY'S ENGAGEMENT

Mules Hit Moseley Hard and Defeat Albany-Decatur 13 to 4

The Twins return home Monday for a trio of contests with the rejuvenated Triplets from Sheffield. The first of the three game series here Monday will be in the nature of a benefit contest for Fred Spitznagle and Lou Craddock, Twin shortsmits, both of whom suffered broken legs while in the service of the local club. Spitznagle now is in the Benevolent hospital here, suffering from a compound fracture of his leg.

Marvin Rankin, secretary of the local club, announced today that an admission price of one dollar will be charged for grandstand seats, in order that a handsome purse may be raised for the two accident victims.

"We feel that local fans should and desire to do something for these two players who were injured while in the service of the local team and therefore we have arranged the benefit game Monday," Mr. Rankin stated.

"Of course the game is a regularly scheduled one and will be counted in the averages, the amount above the regular receipts, however, will be turned over to Messrs Spitznagle and Craddock."

TWINS LOSE

The Mules kicked hard yesterday, piling up a total of 16 hits off the delivery of Moseley and experienced little difficulty in defeating the Twin by a count of 12 to 4. The Twins made three errors to aid the opposition.

Press dispatches declared McClain succeeded Moseley on the mound after the latter had proved beyond all reasonable doubt that he wasn't right. The box score of the game, however, failed to arrive here this morning, so the details are lacking.

Bachelor or Shelton was expected to work against the Mules this afternoon.

LOCAL NET STARS RETAIN TITLES BY EASILY DEFEATING HUNTSVILLE SQUAD

Johnston and Eyster Dispose of Two Teams From Madison County

CATLOW WINS OVER MAY IN THE SINGLES

Collins and Gardner Suffers Only Defeat in the Four Events

The first invasion of Morgan County by Huntsville net stars, Friday was decidedly unsuccessful from a Huntsvillian viewpoint, the visitors winning only one event of the four staged.

By defeating two visiting teams, Johnston and Eyster retained their crown as champions of North Alabama. They have defeated both Huntsville and Athens after battling their way to the top in the Morgan County tournament.

The two visits by Limestone and Madison county net stars has done much to revive the interest in tennis here and at present the half dozen or more local courts are filled nearly every day. The net game is having its most popular season this summer.

Johnston and Eyster met Jones and Young in the first event of the inter-city tournament yesterday. Both were winners in their respective territories. The visiting team gave the local entry a warm fight, but the smashing attack of the locals proved strong enough to win in successive sets, 6-3 and 7-5.

Hays and Jones, runners-up in the Huntsville tournament then met Collins and Gardner, runners-up here. The visitors defeated the locals 6-4 and 8-6, ringing up the only victory of the afternoon for the invaders. Flushed by their success, the visitors then engaged Johnston and Eyster and made a poor showing, the locals coping in successive sets 6-2 and 6-0. The latter was the only loss set of the afternoon.

Robert Catlow defeated Mays in the inter-city singles by winning two of the three sets. It was the closest event of the afternoon. Catlow won the first set 6-4, but lost the second 6-1. It required 14 games to settle the final set, the local man finally winning 8-6.

Governor Kilby declared that the person responsible for the reports had uttered a slander against the south which he could not permit longer to go unchallenged. He said the number of cases of pellagra was being gradually reduced, that Alabama does not need the assistance of outsiders and that when conditions become so grave that the state cannot meet them a call will be issued for help.

About the time Governor Kilby issued his statement, Dr. S. W. Welch, state health officer, made public a telegram to Dr. A. W. Hedrick of New York City, secretary of the American Public Health Association, in which he said "the present hysteria over pellagra is uncalled for and unwarranted" and that the flashing of health lessons on a screen as a part of the campaign against pellagra could do no good except to those sections which would profit at the expense of the South.

The message was sent in reply to a letter from Dr. Hedrick which said the moving picture organization had requested a conference in New York for the purpose of outlining screen plays to be used in the campaign. Dr. Welch was asked to take part in the conference, but his telegram let it be known in no uncertain words that he would not do so.

Tank Explodes, Young Stanley Badly Burned

Walter Stanley, popular youth, today was recovering from painful burns received last night when the gasoline tank of his automobile is said to have exploded at his home, 1728 Ninth avenue S. The Albany and Decatur fire departments were called out.

Mr. Stanley was burned about the face, hands and chest, the injuries being very painful, but are not thought to be serious.

STATE SLANDERED BY PELLAGRA ROW, GOVERNOR STATES

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, ALA., July 30.—Declaring that Alabama and the South have been slandered by reports that pellagra is epidemic and that famine conditions are prevalent in the cotton states, Governor Kilby announced that he had refused to permit the use of the capitol for a meeting of those who would relieve the situation and that those who have taken a sympathetic attitude for the physical construction of the South should be told that the last information in Alabama was that disease and famine were in Russia instead of the South.

Governor Kilby issued the statement as a result of many reports from Washington and other places that pellagra was reaping a heavy toll in the south and that so great was the epidemic that the federal government at Washington and many charitable organizations were combining their resources in an effort to stamp out the disease and stop the panic.

Governor Kilby declared that the person responsible for the reports had uttered a slander against the south which he could not permit longer to go unchallenged. He said the number of cases of pellagra was being gradually reduced, that Alabama does not need the assistance of outsiders and that when conditions become so grave that the state cannot meet them a call will be issued for help.

About the time Governor Kilby issued his statement, Dr. S. W. Welch, state health officer, made public a telegram to Dr. A. W. Hedrick of New York City, secretary of the American Public Health Association, in which he said "the present hysteria over pellagra is uncalled for and unwarranted" and that the flashing of health lessons on a screen as a part of the campaign against pellagra could do no good except to those sections which would profit at the expense of the South.

The message was sent in reply to a letter from Dr. Hedrick which said the moving picture organization had requested a conference in New York for the purpose of outlining screen plays to be used in the campaign. Dr. Welch was asked to take part in the conference, but his telegram let it be known in no uncertain words that he would not do so.

RUSSELLVILLE TO GET HER FRANCHISE BACK SAYS RUMOR; EXPLAIN POSITION

Official Statement is Issued by Baseball Club This Afternoon

SHEFFIELD SAID TO HAVE DESIRED RUSSELLVILLE

Athens Voted to Retire From League at Ten O'clock Today

Athens today withdrew from the Alabama-Tennessee league, according to an official statement furnished The Daily shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon by the directors of the Athens Baseball club. It is understood that the franchise will be placed again in Russellville. According to unofficial statements here Sheffield desired Russellville's re-entrance into the circuit in order that railroad expenses might be less for the Sheffield team and that Tri-Cities fans might attend games in Russellville.

The statement of the Athens club follows:

Athens, Ala., July 30, 1921

Sporting Editor:

Please permit us space to explain Athens' reason for getting out of the Alabama-Tennessee league.

When Athens originally entered the league it bought the Russellville franchise on these terms: $1,000 to be paid by Athens fans and $500 of stock in the Athens club to be taken by Sheffield, Albany-Decatur and Columbia, thus giving Russellville $1,500 for her franchise and team. Athens put up its $1,000 with the understanding that it was to be paid over to Russellville if Sheffield stayed in the league. After Friday's game we were notified that the additional $500 had not been put up by the other three clubs, but that they would put up $300 if we would put up an additional $200. We were under the impression all along that the $500 was ready to be paid over to Russellville by the other three clubs, Albany-Decatur, Columbia and the re-organized Sheffield club, together with our $1,000.

The Athens club had been promised $150 of the $300 fine assessed against Sheffield for failure to play 3 games here, in spite of the fact we had been having gate receipts of over $300 per day. In addition to this the league officials had ruled that Athens would not be entitled to the $50 per day guarantee for the two days rained out in Albany, notwithstanding the fact that President Cowie had congratulated the Athens officials on being the first team to get the rain guarantee.

With all these facts before them the Athens fans decided to grant Russellville's demand that the team be returned to them at ten o'clock today and retire from the league.

Wounded Woman Dies in Hospital

(International News Service)
BIRMINGHAM, July 30.—After being unconscious nearly 24 hours with a bullet wound in her spine, Lillian Stinson died early this morning at a hospital here. The woman was shot yesterday morning while with an automobile party. Three men are being held in connection with the shooting. Miss Stinson formerly lived at Centre, Ala.

A charge of murder this morning was placed against Bruce Wells, a taxicab driver, following the death of Miss Stinson. Police say Wells accidentally shot the young woman while handling a revolver.

ALLIED RELATIONS AGAIN CORDIAL AS CONFERENCE ENDS

(International News Service)
PARIS, July 30.—As a result of conversations between the French ambassador to England and Premier Briand, the foreign office stated today that an agreement had been reached upon Upper Silesia and that the French were yielding to the British demand that the supreme council meet on August 4.

Both yesterday and today the news given out in London and Paris upon Anglo-French relations was contradictory.

On Friday the British described the French note as a virtual ultimatum, while the French said there had been an amicable exchange. Today the London view was that Anglo-French relations were badly strained and that the supreme council probably would not meet until August 11. The information in Paris was that the supreme council meeting would not be postponed and that France was yielding to Great Britain.

GOODRICH AWARDED CONTRACT TO BUILD A LAWRENCE ROAD

G. C. Goodrich, road builder, today announced that he has been awarded a contract by the state for the construction of a road from Fish Pond Farm, near the Morgan County line, to a short distance beyond Wheeler.

Work will be started on the new highway immediately and Mr. Goodrich estimated four months would be required to complete the job.

Construction of the new highway will leave a gap of approximately two miles of bad road between the Lawrence county and the Morgan County lines. It is understood that efforts are being made to obtain the interest of Lawrence county in letting a contract for the piking of the two miles.

Mr. Goodrich, who has charge of the completion of the Hartselle pike, stated today approximately six weeks will be required to complete that thoroughfare.

Wanted License Number of Car

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, ALA., July 30.—It is not unusual for a person to be run over by an automobile in Birmingham, but a letter received by the state tax commission today would indicate that one accident in Birmingham recently had a peculiar effect on the mentality of the person who happened to be the under-dog in the accident.

It seems that the person was stunned when the big automobile passed over him, so stunned he couldn't get the license number. He wrote the tax commission that he didn't get the license number, but the automobile was a large one. He said he hated to trouble the commission, but he had been informed the commission would know by his description who happened to be the owner of the car and he would like to know so he could have the person arrested. His description was a perfect fit for about fifty thousand automobiles in Alabama. The commission told him it was not able to lend him any great assistance.

There are four models in the new line, including roadster and five passenger touring in the open cars, and three passenger coupe and five passenger sedan in the closed models. The announcement of the new Buick Four has been anticipated with a great deal of interest by the motor world and it is expected that the new Four will prove equally as popular as the Sixes have been.

Satsuma Industry Showing Growth

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, ALA., July 30.—Mobile's territory will establish a record for the production of Satsuma oranges this year, according to reports received by the cooperative crop reporting service. Information has been gathered that the yield this year will be one hundred per cent greater than that of last year and that the prices which will be paid for Satsuma oranges will be fifty per cent higher than the prices which will be given for the Florida sweet oranges.

The Satsuma orange industry has developed into one of the most important crops on the gulf coast during the past few years.

If orders are not received soon for its removal to Siberia, it is believed that the country will be evacuated before President Harding's conference opens.

THE FIGHT ON FORD

Every citizen of Alabama should watch carefully events in Washington connected with Henry Ford's bid for the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant and power sites.

All indications are that the fight to keep Ford from securing this project is about to start. It will be backed by tremendous financial interests, by railroads, by disgruntled newspapers and by certain politicians.

These interests don't want Ford's bid to gain favor for various reasons. For one thing, they don't like the Ford industrial program and don't want it to gain a foothold in Alabama. Ford wages and Ford working conditions have long been a sore side of other big interests.

Railroads will oppose him because they are bitter over his recent actions on his own railroad. When other roads were dropping pay, he increased it.

When other roads were standing pat on high freight rates, he reduced them.

The Alabama Power Co. will probably oppose Ford because of the potential power possibilities of the Muscle Shoals project.

The Du Ponts would like Muscle Shoals because it is admirably adapted for the multitudinous activities in which they are engaged.

For these, and numerous other reasons, the Ford offer is in for vicious attacks.

There is little doubt that the majority of the people of Alabama and the majority of the business interests of this whole section want to see Ford's offer accepted. They know that he will develop Muscle Shoals more extensively and more efficiently than would anyone else, including the government.

It is going to be a question of whether popular sentiment or selfish interests will decide the issue.—Birmingham Post.

ROUGHING IT

President Harding's week-end visit to the Edison-Ford-Firestone camp in the Blue Ridge mountains prompted the headline writers in various papers to conscript and uniform in box car or black-face type that old-fashioned but still beloved phrase, "roughing it." The President, millions of American readers were informed while perusing their favorite papers at the breakfast table, was "roughing it." Doubtless there were many veteran campers of the hard-boiled type who grinned or snorted as they glimpsed the old familiar phrase, paraded over the story of the presidential jaunt. To the less sophisticated it sounded well. But if it was fitly applied in this case "roughing it" has lost its ancient meaning. We summarize below a circumstantial newspaper account of how the President "roughed it."

Motoring out from Washington to Pickettville, he "changed oars" at the latter point and in a smaller machine better adapted to hill climbing was conveyed to the camp of the millionaire trio, about two miles distant. The camp, described as a "well-equipped village" under canvas, was munitioned and supplied by a train of motor trucks. Included in the camping paraphernalia, we gathered, were "all the comforts of home" and then some, not excepting a player-piano. With his appetite whetted by his motor trip, the President sat down to a supper of "roast Virginia ham, lamb chops, sweet corn and vegetables." On the morrow he indulged in a horseback ride—the first, we are told, since his boyhood. But his mount was carefully selected, and the route and duration of the "canter," as it was euphemistically described, were no doubt mercifully adjusted to the distinguished guest's capability—and durability as a horseman. In the afternoon he walked half a mile to a village store. Whether he negotiated the return voyage under his own power the story does not say; let us therefore give him the benefit of the doubt. The evening hours in camp were whiled away before a log fire with music, song and story.

If that be "roughing it," in the modern acceptance of the phrase, let some hardy old-timer who vividly remembers how "roughing it" went in the old days, rise up and tell us, in language more picturesque than parliamentary, what this country of ours is coming to!—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

THE TREATY'S GHOST

The long delay which has occurred between the passage of the Knox-Porter peace resolution and the expected peace proclamation is significant.

The administration has attempted to thwart the clear intent of the framers of the Constitution by offering a peace resolution instead of a peace by treaty.

The delay in issuing a proclamation is simple of explanation. The President and his advisers have learned that the various wartime acts contained direct reference to the peace proclamation, which would legally and actually end the state of war, and the Attorney-General is of the opinion that a treaty of some sort must preface the proclamation, even if it contains but "four lines."

Declaring peace and accomplishing a legal peace-time status are two different animals. The peace resolution is simply a case of the wish being father to the thought. Those who supported the Knox-Porter resolution were uncertain of what they were doing at the time. Now they are at least convinced that they wasted a lot of time for nothing.

The administration has labored night and day to avoid contact with the Versailles treaty, but which ever way it turns, it encounters the ghost of the pact.—Nashville Tennessean.

A very simple, but excellent way to cultivate your "soul garden," is to begin now to dig up a fall garden in your back yard.

The Harding international conference will first seek out the apple of discord and destroy it, if possible.

Most of the people have criticised Kilby and Austin in the same breath, and praised them like wise, until now they don't know what to think!

Einstein, the "inventor" of relativity, has returned to Europe and said Americans were more anti-German than any other nation. Perhaps we do not have to have their trade like England and some other countries do.

The prohibitionists along the Atlantic coast are making an effort to do away with the three mile limit.

Japan has decided to enter the peace conference, but will it be as friend or foe?

Since anti-prohibition whiskey sellers are so active along the coast, among the wet sea-side resorts will doubtless become more popular than ever. The sellers and the drinkers of it will all get in the same boat.

When the peace conference meets, the public will judge their intentions by the way they treat each other. If fights and swearing are largely engaged in, the peace when made would be only an armed truce.

The butcher, the baker and the candle stick maker; the worker, the loafer and the busy and idle rich are all "buddies" when they discuss the need of lower taxes.

"Agenda" is a new word meaning a business list of things to be done, or to have some one else do—mostly used the latter sense of course.

The discussion concerning and cries about "Base Ball Today," are said to be disturbing some of our worthy population who are in the habit of sleeping on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Would such mind sleeping on days the A-T league plays out of town?

Mrs. Bergdoll talked to and about Major Campbell as if she had purchased some of the Scotchman's scotch, even if she did not buy the Major himself.

The newspapers have been so anxious for peace on the British Isles, that they have announced an agreement between Lloyd George and DeValera, only to have it denied by both parties.

If they let Wilson dam fail, those who allow it will be d—n failures!

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS FOR SABBATH AND OTHER DAYS

By J. E. Blair
Ambrosia, whatever it is, is said to be the food of the "gods." But the food of mortals is conflict. "What doth our Caesar feed upon that he has grown so great," asked a character in Shakespeare. Granted he was really great, Caesar fed on conflict. The food of the soul has ever been conflict. We may feed our bodies with bread, develop our minds with facts and their relations, but we must nourish our souls on conflict! Because this is true, it is also true as we so often say—after the storm cometh the calm; after the darkest night comes the brightest morning! And you know it was after his conflict of tears that the Bible writer said: "Weeping may endure for the night, but joy cometh in the morning." It was following his severe conflict, in which he exclaimed: "Who shall deliver me from the body of this death?" that Saint Paul chanted his psalm of triumph! The forces of evil had encompassed him about. But Paul charged them, and under the Generalship of Christ, he said he was victor.

When the English stood with their backs to the sea wall of the Channel, fighting; when the Italians were being overwhelmed by the Austrians led by German Generals; when Foch, said he would charge at the first Marne, although surrounded, it did not mean defeat for the Allies. Those reverses simply meant that the "iron of triumphant conflict was entering into the hearts" of the future world victors! Hugh Black, the Scotch preacher was in America, when the Germans were winning every thing; when they had dared to incur the holy wrath of America with continued submarine attacks, and had repudiated a peace based on Wilson's 14 points, but Black said in the face of it all—"The German juggernaut will break its self on the naked soul of man!" Why, because men's immortal souls had been fed and nourished on conflict! To feed on conflict—to get the good out of it—you must get the spirit of determination, only more of it, as possessed by those who contend against you. Where sin doth abound grace must much more abound! You must beat the devil, must out fight him, out think him and engage him in a conflict without fear as to the final result! And again you win no spiritual conflict by destroying any thing, such conflicts are always constructive. The Israelites did not overcome the Canaanites, because of numbers, or superior weapons. The "chosen people" won because they had a higher morality. The licentious demoralized false worshiping Canaanites, carried with them the elements of their defeat and note the following distinction: In physical conflicts, one of the combatants must be beaten and destroyed; in spiritual conflicts, the victor saves and transforms his adversaries. We may raise our spiritual enemies and because this is true, Christ was consistent when He said "Love your enemies." And when you fall, spiritually, you may rise on your dead self to higher things! But always you war against evil—always your soul must have the nourishment of conflict of it will die.

A man he would a goldfing go
And golfed with all his might,
He golfed from morn till noon
And then he golfed into the night.

He golfed his friends in evening chats
And golfed his wife to tears,
He golfed the entire office force
In fact was golfing thro his years.

His friends did not see through the game,
And wondered at his "pep"
And though and stewed and fret to death,
But still could not get "hep,"

Until one day while at the club,
In talking to the crowd
The topic naturally was golf
And waxed quite long and loud.

He let it slip that in the game
The finish added zest
And though his legs grew very tired
Still he was at his best.

They wondered how the man kept up
And marveled at his vim
And asked him why he played so much
And then he let them in.

"You see the game is quite a sport,
But that's not all there is
It's when you near the nineteenth hole
That things begin to whiz."

"With steady eye but trembling hand
You do not hear your mocker
Your pardner who's been kidding you
But hasten to your locker."

'Tis there that life takes on its hue
The amber liquid flows
The world seems all so rosy
Golf enthusiasm grows."

Now this man has many pardners

First they listened to his story,
And then they took up Golf.

BANFF, ALBERTA, July 30.—Search for the body of Dr. W. E. Stone, president of Purdue University of La Fayette, Ind., who was killed July 16 in a fall from a cliff while attempting to climb Mount Eanon has proved unavailing, according to reports brought here from the rescue party. Mrs. Stone, who was with her husband when the accident occurred and who spent five days without food on a narrow ledge of rock, is still at an improvised camp at the base of Mount Eanon. Preparations were made to bring her to Banff.

BELLINGS FALLS, VERMONT, July 30.—Two companies of national guard troops arrived here today to maintain order following rioting in which shots were fired presumably by striking workers of the International Paper company's mills. MILK FROM PEANUTS.

The common peanut is the source of a new substitute for milk which so closely resembles its prototype that it turns sour and curdles, produces buttermilk when churned and may be made into cheese, says the Scientific American. The flavor, in which the nut characteristically persists, is declared to be practically its only point of variance with cow's milk. The new lactal product originated in the laboratory of an American university where the peanut kernels are converted into four times their volume of milk, varying from 4 to 8 per cent in fat content and from 2.4 to 3.3 per cent in protein. The cost of production is said to be considerably less than the market price of dairy milk.

Boy Scouts Aid Birds.

The birds in the neighborhood of St. Louis have had their housing problems reduced to lowest terms by the act of the boy scouts of St. Louis, who, as a result of a contest, provided 2,308 well-built bird houses, which have been placed in the public parks and other reserves. The winning troop turned out 651 bird houses. The scout executive writes that much interest was aroused locally, not only in the house building which it is proposed to make an annual good turn event, but also in the scouts themselves.

FIGHTERS UP

Three alleged fighters were given fines in the Albany police court today. One was fined $16.00, while two others were fined $11.60 each. An alleged speeder was fined $6.00.

HOLDS WILDERNESS IN SOON

Japanese Adventurer Thrives on Such Perils as Might Well Dismantle Even the Bravest.

Jujiro Wada has always played a lone hand. Up and down the northern fringes of civilization he has pioneered for 30 years. He has been in the thick of every gold rush from the Klondike to Hanson Creek. He is an expert trapper, hunter, cook, prospector and dog-team driver. From Alaska to the mouth of the Mackenzie, all old-timers know the little yellow wilderness adventurer.

Soon after the discovery of a gusher well at Fort Norman last fall, winter closed the trails to the new oil bonanza on the Mackenzie. But it did not shut out Jujiro Wada. Ice and snow and howling blizzards have no terrors for him. Employed by Vancouver capitalists to go to Fort Norman and stake claims for them, he struck out for Peace river with a team of dogs in the dead of winter. For 1,200 miles he mushed alone through the frozen, wolf-haunted solitudes, staked his claims and came back across the snow to Peace river.

Now he has been employed by a New York syndicate to go to the top of the world on a hunt for gold. A rumor has long been bruited about the arctic that Herschel Island conceals rich gold deposits. The little Jap will soon leave for the north prepared to spend at least a year on this thunder-riven, desolate rock in the arctic seas. If he uncovers treasure, there will be no delay in bringing out samples. No matter if it is 90 degrees below, Jujiro Wada will harness up his malamutes and break trail back toward civilization. That's his way.

CANDIDATE GOT ONE VOTE

Humiliating Practical Joke Played on Italian Who Had Made Himself Politically Unpopular.

Solicitor Gandolfi of Cremona, Italy, besides being a poet, is also a bombastic meddler in political matters. Because of this it was arranged by a party of jokers to bring him forward as a candidate for the polls. The electoral committee was duly constituted and Gandolfi's name was entered on the government lists.

The unlucky solicitor was forced during the fortnight to do his own canvassing and to drive about from village to village delivering speeches. When election day came, no voting papers having been distributed by the committee for him, it was found that the only vote he received was his own. His discomfiture may be imagined, but it is said that a radical cure for his political tendencies has been found.

A still more unfortunate candidate was a communist in the same town named Lodolini. After the communists had officially announced their intentions to carry him, the man disappeared. It was found that the Fascist had seized him at night time and driven him to Cassalmaggiore, where he was forced under the severest threats to remain during election time. Once Lodolini returned to Cremona to see his wife, but the same night the Fascist again entered the house and forced him to dress and drove him again to seclusion and meditation over the rules for the Third Internationale. —New York Tribune.

Signs of Age.

"Uncle Dunk is getting along in years," regretfully said a resident of the Ozarks. "Eh-yah," replied an acquaintance. "He's som'er about eighty-one, ain't he?"

"Yes, and I skurcelly ever seed a man so old for his years as he 'pears to be of late. He rid into the county seat with me tuther day. We got there about nine o'clock in the morning and before 5:30 he came around whur I was talking swap with some fellers, and 'lowed that as he didn't know nobody in town skurcelly and hadn't any business there, no-way, and nuthin' had happened of any interest so far and didn't 'pear likely to, he was just about ready to go home. Uncle Dunk is feeling his age powerful."—Kansas City Star.

"Vision" Cause of Slaying Brother

NASHVILLE, July 30.—"A vision from the Lord" was the cause of Bud Brown fatally shooting his brother and killing a cow and calf at Clarksville yesterday. "The Lord told me in a vision last night to offer up three sacrifices, my brother as Number 1, my cow as Number 2 and the calf as Number 3," Brown told the eight officers who captured him.

MOONLIGHT AND HONEYSUCKLE (Princess Monday)

Way out west it's lonely for a love-lorn lad,
Waiting in the moonlight with a heart so sad,
Scent of honeysuckle wafted on the breeze
Seems to bring a message thru the whispering trees.

CHORUS

Moonlight and honeysuckle make me think of you,
Moonlight, for its brightness in your eyes of blue.
Honeysuckle, honey, with its color rare,
Brings to mind the wonder of your hair.
In the moonlight, dearie, while I wait for you
Comes the scent of honeysuckle bringing thoughts so true
Keep on shining, moonlight, don't you ever go,
Honeysuckle, keep on blooming—she'll be mine, I know!

MOTHER GAVE IT

Virginia Lady Suffered With Aches and Pains Until Mother Began Giving Her Cardui.

Dublin, Va.—Miss Mary Alice Hughtett residing on Route 2, near here, recently told a visitor of her interesting experience with Cardui. Miss Hughtett said: "I had been suffering for some time with painful... I was pale, didn't feel like going. Would just drag around, and couldn't rest to do any good. I would suffer once a month with my back, sides and head. My limbs would ache and I didn't know what to do, but I knew I must do something, for I didn't get well by letting it run on."

"My mother is a believer in Cardui, for she saw what it did for others as well as herself, so she began giving it to me."
"It wasn't long before I saw a change. It was just what I needed. It regulated me. I began to eat and sleep, and the pain stopped."
"Cardui is without doubt the best female tonic made, and I am glad I can recommend it to others."
If suffering with symptoms such as Miss Hughtett mentions, or other ailments peculiar to women, why not begin Cardui at once? Its merit is well established by successful use for more than 40 years.

Sell Dollars

When dollars are dear; buy dollars when dollars are cheap. This is the motto on which great fortunes are built. According to expert financiers, the dollar is worth more today than it ever will be again; therefore, this is the proper time to exchange money for something that is cheap.

You cannot afford to hold high price dollars no more than you can afford to hold high priced anything else. The man who holds on to high money in the face of a low commodity and security market, is standing between himself and fortune.

Waiting until everybody else wants to buy, and then getting the buying fever yourself, when your dollars have depreciated, is poor business policy.

Hold on to that dollar until everybody else has dollars, and your money will be worth no more than the other fellow's money, but invest it now in something that is cheap, and in the near future you will have two dollars in the place of one.

We are anxious to show you what dollars will do in buying real estate:—

1100 of them will buy a splendid four room cottage, a large lot and a large barn in Fairview.

1800 of them will buy a substantial five room cottage on 6th Avenue West.

2000 of them will buy another substantial five room cottage, with bath, on 6th Avenue West.

3000 of them will buy a splendid two story house, on two lots, in East Albany.

4000 of them will buy a modern and well built two story house on Prospect Drive near schools.

400 of them will buy a beautiful building lot on 6th Avenue South.

700 of them will buy a dandy 80 foot corner lot on 5th Avenue West.

2500 of them will buy an improved 92 acre farm within five miles of Albany.

And—well what's the use of telling all the good things at once. The paper will be printed again, and we will have still more good buys, but by waiting to buy until the "sweet by-and-by," you will not find things as buyable as in the by-gone days, which are NOW.

Railroad Briefs About Town

At its regular meeting Thursday night, the carmen's union adopted resolutions as follows, in regard to the disposition of Muscle Shoals:

Albany, Ala., July 27th, 1921

"Resolution Muscle Shoals."

Whereas, It has come to the knowledge of the membership of organized labor in this vicinity and elsewhere that Henry Ford of Detroit, Mich., has made an offer to the U. S. Government to utilize the water powers of the Muscle Shoals and operate the Nitrate Plant at Sheffield, Ala. and Whereas, the best authorities have pronounced Mr. Ford's offer fair and just, and

A similar resolution was passed and addressed to Congressman Almon. The following were appointed as the Carmen's Labor day committee, on Floor: R. F. Ling, H. O. Cline and D. W. Johnson.

Returned From Chicago.

Essie Garrison, Sheet Metal Worker's delegate to the annual convention of his craft held in Chicago, stated that the usual number of representatives were present and that harmony prevailed. He said that a strong resolution prevailed condemning the several attempts to lower the wages of working men. He said that Fred West, now of Birmingham, but once an employee of the shops here, was a delegate to the convention from Montgomery, and a Mr. Laatsch, brother of H. K. Laatsch of the Cornice and Roofing Co. was a delegate from Birmingham.

H. C. Hutchison, delegate to the international convention of the Car Builders at Toronto, Canada, from Oakworth Lodge, leaves August 4th. Mr. Hutchison's name owing to Albany, Alabama being the first city on the delegates list, will be the first one called in the convention.

The Carmen's Journal, the national monthly of the carmen's organization carries this month, a number of pictures of large buildings in Toronto and a long history of the city, which was named "Toronto" from the Indian language meaning "Meeting place."

Frank Sherman, air brake expert for the Louisville and Nashville spent the week at the shops giving lectures on how best to conserve the traveling public's safety by jam up air brake service on all trains. Coal and Coke Rates Modified

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, ALA., July 30.—Coal and coke rates to and from the Birmingham district involved in the Meridian rates case will not be increased. The public service commission received a telegram from James L. Davidson, secretary of the Alabama Coal Operators Association, announcing that the interstate commerce commission had modified its order in the Meridian rate case so as to exclude coal and coke and that the railroads would cancel its proposed tariffs increasing these rates the cancellation being effective on one day's notice.

No details about the change in the order were given to the commission. These rates were involved in the injunction proceedings filed in Birmingham in an effort to prevent the increasing of the rates in line with the decision of the interstate commerce commission which instructed the railroads operating in Alabama to increase intrastate rates at competing points with Meridian, Miss., in order that discrimination against Meridian should not be continued.

Arrested a Ghost.

For three nights the village of Crossing was visited by a white-draped ghost, which danced in the moonlight on the stacks of stone and appeared to take notice of stones thrown at it. On Wednesday night it appeared before Mr. Watson, a farmer, who was driving home. He drove up to it and thrashed it with his whip, and then found it to be the dummy figure of a man with strings tied to its arms and legs, by which they could be made to move. The village policeman has taken possession of it.—London Daily Mail.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

NEW YORK, July 30.—Is Cornelius Vanderbilt, Sr., turning his ambassadorial year toward Japan? It was generally accepted that he longed for the Court of St. James; but that being beyond his reach, it is reported that his eyes have returned to other shores. This rumor is stimulated by the circulation at Newport of a symposium on the Japanese-American question, with a note to the effect that it is "privately printed by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., No. 640 Fifth Avenue, New York."

It's still a fairly honest world, however. Anna Hughes, a seventeen-year-old laundry sorter, came across $10,000 worth of jewels in the laundry bag sent by Mrs. M. Markowitz, of Brooklyn, the other day, and rushed to the desk with them urging them to get them back to the lady "right away quick, so she won't worry."

More European picture settings! Violet Herserseau sailed for Italy last week to join the Fox company in making a picture. She is to have the feminine lead in "Nero"—made right there on Nero's own fiddling ground. This is the first picture the Fox company will have made outside of America.

Time doesn't mean a great deal to the calm Oriental. Days and years rush him one one whit. Lem Wah, one of the oldest citizens of New York's Chinatown, who has lived in Mott street for 36 years, is on his way back to China to, see his wife, whom he has seen only three times in 51 years. For 33 of those years, he has been the Chinese interpreter for the Canadian Pacific railroad, but now at 72, he feels that he can retire, and he is going happily back to spend his remaining days with his wife.

If one must have an officer of the law come to evict her and her family, it's a pretty nice thing when the officer happens to be one's husband's war buddy. Mrs. Rose Nowaki learned that the other day. Mrs. Nowaki's husband went to his death when the transport President Lincoln, was torpedoed, and life has been difficult for her and the four children since then. Finally the blow fell—her furniture was to be put into the street. Assistant city marshal Hagen of her district was sent to see that it was done. He asked her husband's name. "Was he on the President Lincoln," Hagen demanded. "He went down with that ship," said Mrs. Nowaki. "Well, I was his buddy; and I escaped when he went down. You don't move." War veterans have taken up the widow's fight and are trying to make it possible for her to keep her home.

Married couples must act like married couples—not to go to bed being affectionate. That's the order of the court. Matthew and Margaret Marquard live across the river in New Jersey. Maybe that's why they act so queerly. Anyhow, on a perfectly respectable public beach, they up and kissed each other, Matthew first having put his arm close about Margaret's waist. They were arrested. Special Officer George Maltz said it was all very well for them to say they'd been married two years; then

The New

"Four"

Announcement is made today of the presentation before the motoring public of Buick's new four-cylinder line. There are four models in the line, including roadster and five passenger touring in the open cars, and three-passenger coupe and five-passenger sedan in the closed models.

Inasmuch as it has been known in the automotive trade for some time that Buick purposed adding a line of fours, considerable interest attaches to the specifications covering the new models. In motor construction Buick has adhered to the valve-in-head principle with which its name has been so prominently connected for twenty years. The cylinder bore is 3 and 3-8 inches with stroke of 4 and 3-4 inches. The motor develops between 35 and 40 brake horse power and road tests have shown that the power plant will deliver up to 50 miles an hour with ease. Features of motor construction are the large three-bearing crankshaft and 12-inch long connecting rods, extra long rods being provided to reduce vibration to a minimum. A circulating splash oiling system gives automatic lubrication throughout. Another important feature, which is standard equipment on all Buick cars, is the automatic carburetor heat control through which ideal vaporizing conditions are obtained.

The transmission is of the selective sliding gear type, three speeds forward and one reverse. The universal joint is of standard Buick construction, being virtually an integral part of the transmission and automatically lubricated from the transmission. The clutch is of the multiple disc dry plate type, built in exact accordance with the principles which have guided clutch construction in Buick sixes. All moving driving parts are enclosed.

Front axle of the four-cylinder car is an I-beam forging. The rear axle is three-quarter floating type, all the weight of the car being carried on the axle tubes and only driving torque and steading of the wheels being taken by the axle driving shafts. The third member is of standard Buick type of construction, designed successfully to eliminate all twisting or weaving in the rear axle. Gear ratio of the rear axle on high speed is 4 and 2-3 to 1.

Wheelbase of all models is 109 inches. The spring suspension is designed to give fine riding qualities to a car of this wheelbase. The front spring, also semi-elliptic type, are 36 inches long, and the rear springs, also semi-elliptic, are 55 1-2 inches long.

Cord tires are standard equipment on all models. These tires, which are 31x4, are the first straight side cord tires in this size ever manufactured and were built especially to meet Buick requirements for the new four-cylinder cars. The tires have been adopted as standard size.

The chassis is lubricated with the high pressure Alemite system. Delco starting and lighting system is standard equipment. All models are complete with tire carrier and extra rim and all are equipped with non-glare headlight lenses.

Shipping weights of the four models are: Roadster, 2310 pounds; touring car, 2380 pounds; coupe, 2430 pounds; sedan, 2650 pounds.

In adding the four-cylinder models to the seven models of six-cylinder cars now produced, Buick executives feel they have rounded out their line and constructed cars which are in every respect worthy of the Buick name.

Here is a Thoroughbred Four Completing the Famed Buick Line

The new Four-Cylinder Buick, here announced, is a thoroughbred—a pedigreed car well worthy of its name.

Down to the very last detail, this new model possesses every quality of enduring serviceability, complete comfort, and distinctive appearance that have always characterized Buick automobiles.

The advent of this new Four makes the Buick 1922 line complete. It offers to purchasers of a car of this size all the quality and service that go to make up the name "Buick."

The Buick Valve-in-Head Engine—A Power Plant That Has Proved Itself

The engine, of course, is of the time-tested Buick Valve-in-Head type. The year-after-year concentration of Buick's engineering skill and experience in building Valve-in-Head motors assures the highest standard of performance obtainable today.

Every other unit is of a quality equal to the power plant. The whole assembly constitutes a perfectly balanced chassis which is of typical Buick construction. The equipment of Cord Tires is merely evidence of the quality which characterizes the entire car.

Two open and two closed body types mounted on the Buick built chassis comprise the new series.

Even the most casual inspection of the details of design and workmanship will reveal that full measure of quality which motorists have learned to associate with Buick.

A Great Car—Prices Make It An Even Greater Value

Obviously a high grade automobile—a genuine Buick production—the prices listed below make this great Four even greater. A value such as this is possible only because of the combination of Buick engineering skill devoted to the one ideal of quality, Buick production facilities developed over nearly a quarter of a century, and Buick's nation-wide distribution and service organization.

The Buick Motor Company is proud of the Buick Four. It has the faith of long experience in this newest addition to its line. It places upon it unreservedly the Buick guarantee carried by every Buick automobile produced.
